In a pleasant half-hour's visit to the monumental works of Mr. William F. Elsie, a few days ago, we noted with pleasure the large and steadily increasing volume of business that is apparent in that establishment. Mr. Elsie secured from the Hartmann heirs last week the contract for a monument to the late Mr. George Hartman, that will be a fine specimen of the art. It is to be constructed of dark Barre granite and the whole will weigh about eight tons. A similar stone, also of Barre granite, is in course of preparation to the order of Mr. N. W. Hamblin, to mark the resting place of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Hamblin. Mr. Elsie is demonstrating to the people of Logan that he not only gives fully as good quality of workmanship as city firms, but gives it at considerably lower figures.
